Goal Setting se fixer des buts

goal setting
choosing to achieve something and clarifying the steps needed to make it a reality

Gros Morne National Park

Dr. Harold (Hank) Williams studied geology in Newfoundland. When he explored in western Newfoundland, he discovered rocks that would normally be buried far beneath the earth's surface. This was unique, and Dr. Williams decided the area should be preserved. He worked towards this goal, and Gros Morne became a National Park in 1970. Dr. Williams pursued his goal further, and Gros Morne became a World Heritage Site in 1987.

DISCOVER NEWFOUNDLAND & LABRADOR

- Although Labrador has twice the area, 94% of the people of Newfoundland and Labrador live on the island of Newfoundland.
- L'Anse aux Meadows, on the northern tip of Newfoundland, was inhabited by Viking 1,000 years ago.
- The Royal St. John's Regatta, held on the first Wednesday in August, is one of the oldest sporting events in Canada.
- Newfoundland Standard Time, a unique time zone, is half an hour ahead of Atlantic Standard Time.

Responsibility la responsabilité

Responsibility is the quality of behaving correctly. The duty to always do the right thing.

DISCOVER MANITOBA

- Manitoba, a Prairie Province, is located at the centre of Canada.
- There are four languages spoken in Manitoba: English, French, Cree, and Ojibwe (Anishinaboo).
- The Aurora Borealis, or Northern Lights, are visible primarily in northern parts of the province between November and April each year.
- Winnipeg has 318 days of sunshine each year.
- Manitoba has more curling clubs than Ontario and Quebec combined and is often referred to as the "Curling Capital of the World."

Wapusk National Park

Wapusk National Park, Manitoba's second national park, was established in 1996 along the shores of Hudson Bay. The park is accessible only by helicopter or Tundra Buggy, a specialized vehicle for travelling across the fragile tundra. The remote location helps protect the habitat.

"Wapusk" comes from the Cree word for "white bear." When sea ice melts on Hudson Bay, polar bears come ashore and wait on the tundra until the sea ice forms again. Pregnant females stay ashore to give birth to cubs in dens carved into the tundra.

More recently, grizzly bears and black bears have migrated into Wapusk National Park, creating a unique circumstance where all of Canada's bear species share the same landscape.

PLANNING POINTERS

Being responsible online is important. To protect yourself, don't text anyone your password. Don't answer personal questions. Tell an adult when a stranger talks to you. Avoid clicking on links that you are unsure about.

Forgiveness
le pardon

For-give-NESS
forgiving someone, letting go of anger or of being upset over a situation.

Common Good

The human person is sacred because God formed us in His image. Not only are we sacred beings, but social beings as well, realizing our dignity and rights in relationship with others within our human community.

The Catholic Church teaches us that our purpose in life is to serve God and His creation. God has granted every person the right to life and to those things that allow them to live a decent life. As God's children we have a duty to respect and to promote these rights, not just for ourselves, but also for everyone in the world around us.

Working together for the Common Good calls for the understanding and collaborative action of people from a wide variety of different backgrounds to address the major global issues that face us all. This idea is founded on global sharing and community with the purpose of promoting just and equal distribution of the world's wealth and goods. By engaging people from all different races, cultures and languages to commit to working together, there is hope for creating a world in which there is more solidarity, peace, and harmony.
